

JEWISH JOURNAL

Connect. Inform. Inspire.

Photo by Steve Cohn Photography

From left: ETТА president Kambiz Babaoff, ETТА co-chairman Jaime Sohacheski, ETТА Executive Director Michael Held, state Sen. Robert Hertzberg, and Irina Schaeffer and George Schaeffer celebrate the opening of ETТА's headquarters in North Hollywood.

MORE THAN 200 SUPPORTERS OF ETТА, A PROVIDER OF social services in Los Angeles for Jewish adults with special needs, gathered for the April 15 grand opening of ETТА's new headquarters in North Hollywood, at 13034 Saticoy St.

While still retaining a presence in the Pico-Robertson neighborhood with its community-based adult day programs, which help clients feel more confident and independent in their communities, ETТА has consolidated its office operations in the North Hollywood location to better serve its clients and the greater community, said ETТА spokesman Harvey Farr.

The celebratory event, which coincided with ETТА's 25th anniversary, paid tribute to husband-and-wife George and

Irina Schaeffer, longtime ETТА supporters whose financial support made the new headquarters a reality.

Attendees included state Sen. Robert Hertzberg (D-Van Nuys), Los Angeles City Controller Ron Galperin, ETТА President Kambiz Babaoff, ETТА Co-Chairman Jaime Sohacheski and ETТА Executive Director Michael Held.

Founded in 1993, ETТА serves people with intellectual and developmental disabilities and their families by providing residential housing, case management, employment training and placement, educational services and training.

The organization is an affiliate of OHEL Children's Home and Family Services.

ETТА

INDEPENDENCE. INCLUSION. GROWTH.